DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC 103

- 1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
 - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- 2. Claims 1, 2, 5, 7, 13, 15-17, 20, 22, 28-30, 33, 35 and 41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Nielsen Air in view of Aho et al.
- 3. Nielsen Air teaches (independent claims 1, 16 and 29) a system, method and program storage device readable by a machine, the method comprising: surveying 3,000 passengers and airport visitors, which reads on obtaining and collecting data relating to two or more persons; developing preliminary findings from the data, which reads on extracting common elements from the characteristics of the two or more persons said collected data.
- 4. Nielsen Air does not teach associating products and services for advertisements with the common elements, and generating an advertisement related to the products and services.

 Because Nielsen Air teaches that the survey was performed to measure the response to airport advertising, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time of the invention, to associating products and services for advertisements with the common elements, and generate an advertisement related to the products and services.
- 5. Nielsen Air does not teach transmitting and communicating said optimized advertisement to said two or more persons. Aho et al. teaches (col. 9 lines 12-13) transmitting and communicating an advertisement to a billboard, which reads on to two or more persons. Because Aho et al. teaches enhanced display capability designed to make the ad more effective, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time of the invention, to add the teachings of Aho et al. to those of Nielsen Air.
- 6. Nielsen Air does not teach (claims 2, 17 and 30) a database memory. However, under the principles of inherency (MPEP § 2112.02), since the reference invention necessarily performs the method claimed, the method claimed is considered to be anticipated by the reference invention. As evidence tending to show inherency, it is noted that the very collection of data taught by the reference reads on a database memory. Alternatively, because they are efficient and convenient, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time of the invention, to place the collected data into an electronic database memory.

- 7. Nielsen Air also teaches: (claims 5, 20 and 33) obtaining physical data (e.g., sex) and (claims 7, 22 and 35) data relating to behavioral characteristics (e.g., flying).
- 8. Nielsen Air does not teach (claims 13, 28 and 41) a network or (claim 15) a billboard. Aho et al. teaches (col. 7 line 4) a network and a billboard (para. 5 above). Because Aho et al. teaches that a network provides flexibility for storage, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time of the invention, to add the teachings of Aho et al. to those of Nielsen Air.

Allowable Subject Matter

- 9. Claims 3, 4, 6, 8-12, 14, 18, 19, 21, 23-27, 31, 32, 34 and 36-40 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
- 10. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter for all the claims except 6, 21 and 34: the closest prior art, Nielsen Air, does not teach or suggest obtaining data related to a product purchasing transaction by said two or more persons. Catalina Marketing teaches providing data related to a product purchasing transaction by 165 million persons, and Experian teaches providing data related to a product purchasing transaction by 98 million mail-order buyers, which is a reasonable approximation of said two or more persons. Catalina also teaches a data-gathering service for merchants. However, the prior art does not teach or suggest combining the teachings of Catalina Marketing or Experian with those of Nielsen Air.
- 11. For claims 6, 21 and 34: the closest prior art, Nielsen Air, does not teach or suggest obtaining biometric data on said two or more persons. Stinson et al. teaches obtaining biometric data and using it for identity confirmation (col. 2 lines 6-7). However, the prior art does not teach or suggest combining the teachings of Stinson et al. with those of Nielsen Air.

12. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
